Dear Trinity Grammar School Community

Last night, I wrote to School Council Chairman Robert Utter to formally inform him of my decision to resign as Headmaster of Trinity Grammar.

My decision comes after a great deal of thought and discussion with my family.

While we are all attuned to how difficult the past two months have been for the Trinity community, I am now content that our hard work in recent weeks has helped the school return to a position where students and staff are enjoying the normal rhythm of school life.

In tendering my resignation, I believe I am offering Trinity and the wider school community an opportunity to put better focus on its key priority – to educate and nurture students.

As a school, we have made tremendous strides over the past four years. Trinity Grammar is a highly regarded institution built on a cohort of extremely capable students, talented and committed teachers, and caring and involved parents.

I have enjoyed my time here immensely – the School will always have a special place in my heart.

I would like to thank Trinity's School Council for its unwavering support in recent months, and my colleagues in our teaching and support groups. Many have stood tall during a difficult period for the school, showing outstanding professional leadership and personal qualities.

I wish the entire Trinity Community all the very best as it works towards an even stronger future.

Yours faithfully
