

Friday 23 March 2018

Dear Parents

What hasn't wavered in this past fortnight is our determination to ensure Trinity students remain focussed and feel supported.

There are a lot of people to thank for this, including the students themselves. But most certainly it's the School's great teachers and support staff who have remained calm and strong as they lead our boys.

It's been inspiring to see people rise through some adversity and stand tall. It's been encouraging to see people committed to our cause despite distraction. To that I would say well done.

As we enter our final week of term, each of us has opportunity to re-double focus on our work while we also continue care for each other. And this is something I am really looking forward to.

Lastly, I wanted to share with you the one thing that is motivating me at the moment. It's actually what motivates me every day. It's my one main job – to look after our students.

Enjoy your weekend and see you next week.

Kind regards

Michael Davies

Headmaster